Investors in People Standard (IIP) is an International Standard designed to encourage organisations to develop their people. It is based on the practical experience of businesses that have seen a marked improvement in performance by investing in their workforce.

Originally launched in 1991 and revised to include additional elements in 2005, the Standard provides a framework for companies which enables them to align staff performance to the needs of the business:

- a "benchmark" of good practice in people management;
- a framework for performance management by evaluating training and development activities;
- a developmental tool for the business.

The principles of the Standard - PLAN, DO, REVIEW - are underpinned by ten indicators of good practice.

What will it do for my organisation?

Studies have found that companies recognised as Investors in People significantly outperform their non-recognised competitors in the same sector. By improving the performance of your people, you can improve the performance of the whole organisation. IIP demonstrates you are a good employer and will give you a commercial advantage in the market place.

What will it do for my staff?

There is a direct correlation between staff performance and the achievement of business objectives. IIP provides an ideal framework to enable your staff to develop, in line with the needs of your business. This leads to improved motivation through greater involvement, personal development and recognition of individuals' achievements.

How do I achieve the prestigious Standard?

Together with a trained practitioner you will work through an action plan to ascertain what the company needs to do to meet the criteria.

Some interesting facts and figures

- The UK Government's National Training Task Force, the CBI, TUC and leading employers were involved in its conception in 1991.
- Over 58,600 organisations (including 37,800 organisations Recognised) are working with the Standard worldwide.
- Over 7.8 million people (over a third of UK workforce) have either achieved Recognition or are working towards it.
- IIP has an employer retention rate of 93% (i.e. organisations apply for re-Recognition within three years).

Sheikh Khalifa Excellence Award Model

How to use the Excellence Model

Organisations can use the Model without the involvement of a third party. They can identify their strengths and areas for improvement in relation to their market, political and economic environment, and stated mission and vision.

Most organisations eventually develop a sequence of approaches and techniques that change with time and with their developing understanding of their performance.

Step 1

Develop Commitment to Self Assessment

- Gain and develop the commitment of senior managers to using Self Assessment
- Educate senior managers, or teams, in the use of Self Assessment as a driver for continuous improvement

Step 2

Plan Self Assessment

- Select the Self Assessment Approach
- Identify the appropriate group which will carry out the Self Assessment
- In large organisations, select "early adopters" to pilot the process
- Define the boundaries of the group
- Establish Self Assessment guidelines

Step 3

Establish Teams to Perform Self Assessment and Educate

- Select relevant people to carry out Self Assessment
- Train the people directly involved

Step 4

Communicate Self Assessment Plans

- Determine the message, the best way to communicate it and who needs to receive it
- Emphasise that Self Assessment is not an academic exercise but has a direct impact on customers and business performance

Step 5

Conduct Self Assessment

- Depending on the approach selected, this may take some time
- The Foundation provides information on the various techniques for Self Assessment

Step 6

Establish Action Plan

- If there have been several Self Assessment across the organisation, consolidate them
- Review the improvement opportunities identified
- Assign priorities - it will not be possible to address all of the opportunities identified
- Agree responsibilities and milestones for action
- Communicate the action plan

Step 7

Implement Action Plan

- Set up improvement teams to address each priority improvement area
- Provide appropriate resources
- Monitor implementation

➤ CPC Initiative

CPC Initiative

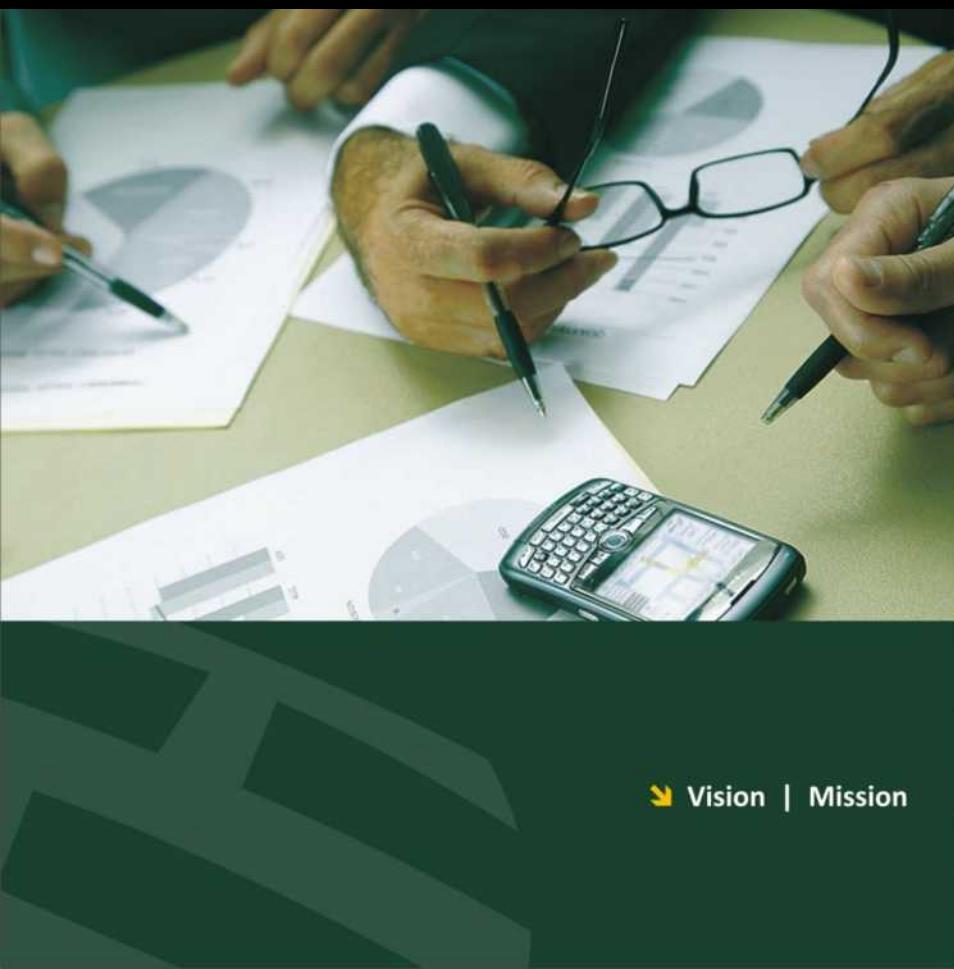

Abu Dhabi Chamber of Commerce, through its organizational excellence arm (ADICOE), is proud to announce a United Arab Emirates (UAE) national initiative of Certified Professional Consultant (CPC).

Why the CPC Initiative?

The Government of Abu Dhabi and Abu Dhabi Chamber of Commerce are concerned about the professional competency of the people who are claiming to be consultants in the UAE. There is no denying the fact that some of the consultants are excellent while others range from being mediocre to poor.

The problem arises when the substandard consultants get the consulting assignments and contracts by submitting inaccurate background information. In the absence of any mechanism of checking the consultants' background and validating their claims, it becomes really difficult to separate the excellent ones from the poor ones. Until the time when a poor consultant is spotted out because of the poor performance, it is too late. Damage is already done! The lot of precious time and resources are wasted.

Given this dismal background, Abu Dhabi Chamber of Commerce, through its organizational excellence arm (ADICOE), has taken the initiative to put in place a tailor made national system of certifying the population of consultants in the UAE with the capability of serving the community needs in a befitting manner. Although the Abu Dhabi Chamber of Commerce has initiated this project, it is expected that all Chambers of Commerce and interested government bodies in the UAE will join in creating and implementing this important national project.

► Vision | Mission

Mission of the UAE CPC Initiative

The mission of the UAE CPC Initiative is to promote excellence and ethics in professional consulting through validation, certification, education and performance measuring.

Vision of the UAE CPC Initiative

The UAE CPC initiative aims at setting the standard for excellence and ethics in professional consulting through the UAE that will set an example for the rest of the world and only certified consultants will be used by organizations in the UAE.

► Salient Features

Salient Features of the UAE CPC Initiative

Background check of the consultants in the UAE and validation of their claims of professional standing

Testing the consultants' professional knowledge against a globally benchmarked Body of Knowledge (BOK)

Testing of the consultants' professional competency levels against a globally benchmarked framework of competencies

Certifying any deserving consultant as a "Certified Professional Consultant (CPC)" as a mark of professional recognition and trust

Certifying a consultant at several levels such as "Associate Consultant", 'Consultant' and 'Master Consultant' to reflect the actual professional standing of the consultant for the consideration of potential clients

Certifying a consultant's general consulting skills as well as specialist skill, e.g. "Certified Professional Consultant in Supply Chain Management", Certified Professional Consultant in Organization Excellence", Certified Professional Consultant in Strategic Planning', etc.

Re-certifying all "Certified Professional Consultants (CPCs)" after every three (3) years to make sure that the consultants' professional knowledge is continuously updated. In Peter Drucker's word, "Knowledge has to be improved, challenged and increased constantly, or it vanishes"

Developing and maintaining of a database of "UAE Certified Professional Consultants (CPCs) based upon actual performance in the UAE of the individual consultants to provide a reliable source of certified professional consultants for the benefit of all potential clients in the UAE and the wider GCC and MENA region

Setting up a Complaint Centre to report any violation of CPC Professional code of Ethics and other CPC Rules of Clients' Engagement
